

An aerial photograph of the Norwegian School of Economics (NHH) campus in Oslo. The image shows several modern buildings with large glass windows and flat roofs, surrounded by lush green trees. In the background, the Oslo harbor is visible, with a large ship docked and mountains rising in the distance under a blue sky with scattered clouds.

NHH

AIM FOR A PHD AT NHH!

KENNETH FJELL, VICE RECTOR FOR RESEARCH

Why aim for a PhD after your master's degree?

- Not run from task to task putting out fires, but be able to really go in-depth
- Create new knowledge, contribute to the next textbook edition of your favorite subject
- Six specialisations that are flexible – study what you are passionate about

PHD SPECIALISATIONS AT NHH

ACCOUNTING, AUDITING AND LAW ▶

BUSINESS AND MANAGEMENT SCIENCE ▶

ECONOMICS ▶

FINANCE ▶

PROFESSIONAL AND INTERCULTURAL
COMMUNICATION ▶

STRATEGY AND MANAGEMENT ▶

Four years with pay (ca. EUR 45,000 per year)

PHD AT NHH

- Circa 140 PhD-students
- About half are international
- All English programme
- Course component of 45-60 ECTS
- Do your own research beyond that (thesis)
- Participate in conferences around the world
- Possibilities for stay abroad with financial support
- 25% work duty and salary of NOK 480' pr year for four years
- Work in academe or other analytical positions

PEOPLE AND PLACEMENTS

— NHH gave me a great opportunity to pursue a PhD. Agnes Kovacs, Postdoctoral Research Fellow, University of Oxford ▶

— "Among the numerous benefits that I enjoyed during my time at NHH, I would highlight the school's progressive exchange policy!" Grant McDermott, Assistant Professor of Economics at the University of Oregon ▶

WANT TO KNOW MORE?

- Ask me or a PhD coordinator:
 - Accounting and Auditing (PhD Coordinator Katarina Kaarbøe)
 - Economics (PhD Coordinator Aline Bütikofer)
 - Finance (PhD Coordinator Konrad Raff)
 - Business and Management Science (PhD Coordinator Leif Kristoffer Sandal)
 - Strategy and Management (PhD Coordinator Sven Arne Haugland)
 - Professional and Intercultural Communication (PhD Coordinator Gisle Andersen)
- Good luck with the master – your next step on the way to a PhD! 😊