

Position as student assistant

ENG11 ENGLISH FOR BUSINESS II

---

The Department of professional and intercultural communication (FSK) invites applicants for 1-2 positions as student assistant for the course ENG11 English for Business II, Spring term 2021.

The course is taught in 3 parallel groups of approx. 40 students per group. The course has a high degree of student activity, and your tasks will include monitoring/filming student activities (mock business situations), assessing oral assignments, as well as providing administrative support to the lecturers. It is currently uncertain how much teaching will be offered online, but assistance related to attendance registration and monitoring of the chat function during digital lectures are likely to be relevant tasks.

The position is remunerated according to present standards, including compensation for preparation, presence in the classroom, and any follow-up.

The position requires excellent English language proficiency, both oral and written. Some knowledge of Norwegian is also very helpful.
