CV and track record

Tina Søreide is Professor of Law and Economics at the Norwegian School of Economics (NHH) and Senior Visiting Researcher at Yale Law School (Center for the Study of Corporate Law) in fall 2025. She served as Director General of the Norwegian Competition Authority (2022–2025) and as Special Adviser to the Ministry of Trade, Industry and Fisheries in 2025. Her research and teaching focus on governance and corporate misconduct, particularly the regulation and enforcement of laws against corruption, competition law violations, and corporate crime.

Holding a PhD in economics, Søreide began her career in international development and anticorruption, leading projects for the World Bank and Chr. Michelsen Institute across three continents, primarily in Africa. After two years at the World Bank in Washington DC, she contributed to policy reforms for the EU and OECD, where she also served as a member of the High-Level Advisory Group to the Secretary General. A postdoctoral fellowship in criminal law at the University of Bergen on corporate liability in bribery cases led her into academia; she joined NHH in 2015 and became professor in 2017.

Søreide remains active in global policy work (UN, NORAD, OECD), collaborates internationally in law and economics, and is a frequent media commentator. In 2020, she received NHH's Research Dissemination Award for her public engagement.
